

GRACE & HOPE

Tender Remembrance

A 90-Day Companion Through Grief

This journal belongs to

WELCOME

How to use this journal

Over the next 90 days, this journal is a gentle companion — a quiet, judgment-free space to notice how you're doing, and to take small steps forward. There is no wrong way to use it. Some days you'll write pages; other days a single line is more than enough.

Each day

Fill in a Daily Page — a quick mood check, a short prompt, and space for notes.

Each week

Pause at the Weekly Reflection to notice patterns and choose one simple next step.

When it's heavy

Turn to "Finding Your Way Forward" to untangle a worry into a small action.

Whenever you like

Color a page, write an affirmation, or revisit a memory. This is your space.

One small step at a time. You are not alone in this.

A GENTLE TOOL

Finding Your Way Forward

Grief comes in waves. When one feels overwhelming, this small practice can help you find your footing again.

1. What feels heavy right now? (Name it plainly.)

2. What part of this is outside my control? (I can set it down.)

3. What is one small thing that IS within my control?

4. The single next step I can take today is...

5. Someone I could reach out to for help is...

6. A truth or hope I want to hold onto is...

BEFORE WE BEGIN

Where I am right now

The person I am remembering is...

What I miss most about them is...

The story of them I never want to forget is...

The ways their love still shows up in my life are...

HOLD ONTO THESE

Words for the hard days

Grief is love with nowhere to go.

There is no right way to grieve.

Be gentle with yourself today.

Their love does not end – it changes shape.

It's okay to laugh, and it's okay to cry.

You carry them with you always.

Healing is not forgetting.

One wave at a time.

How I feel today

Low

Okay

Good

Today's reflection

A memory of them that made me smile today...

One small win today

I'm grateful for

Notes & thoughts

"Grief is love with nowhere to go."

WEEK 1

Weekly reflection & a simple next step

What helped me this week?

What was hard — and what did I learn from it?

My one simple resolution for next week:

This week I made time to...

- ☐ Rest ☐ Move gently ☐ Connect with someone ☐ Ask for help
- ☐ Do one thing for me

TAKE A BREATH

A quiet space to color

Let your mind rest while your hands create.

This is just a taste.

The full journal includes everything you've seen here, plus:

- 90 dated daily pages with prompts, mood check-ins & notes
 - A weekly reflection & simple resolution every 7 days
 - Coloring pages to rest your mind
 - Milestone pages at day 30, 60 & 90
 - A keepsake closing page

90 days of gentle company, whenever you need it.